John,

Thank you for sponsoring three cohorts of the Real Deal Collective since its launch in 2020! Sponsorship of the Real Deal requires active participation as a trusted financial expert in class and $10,000 per year for two CEO scholarships. Your $30,000 contribution is significant. Second only to the expertise and insight you've given to the 50 businesses who have graduated the program.

As you know, the Real Deal Collective is a unique blend of services designed to provide small businesses with the most valuable resources in growing a company:

- A precise, custom plan for growth
- Education on finance, operations, sales, marketing, and leadership
- A peer network for support, collaboration, and role modeling
- A community network of experts, committed to providing access to resources

The program brings together 15 CEOs of growth-stage small businesses, half women or minority-owned businesses. The CEO's will undergo 6-months of classroom education, peer group meetings, networking events with community experts, and finish with a presentation of their strategic plans to the entire Collective.

Outcomes will be measured throughout the program and at the conclusion to monitor impact and identify follow-up support.

We are already managing a waiting list for the August 2023 session and look forward to your continued participation in this powerful community of small business owners' that have each other's back!

Thank you!
